WORKSHOP FORMAT

The workshop kicks off Sunday, July 10. Each morning history professors lead lectures and discussions on specific facets of China, Japan, and Korea that are pertinent to the literary works covered. Topics discussed include history, religion, culture, family and gender, and language.

Each afternoon literature professors discuss the short stories, novels, and poetry that participants have read prior to arrival at the workshop, focusing on universal as well as culture-specific aspects of the works.

After the literature discussions, a high school world literature teacher with experience in teaching East Asian literature acts as curriculum consultant, leading strategy sessions on how to teach the works at the high school level.

Participants are also encouraged to attend Chinese, Japanese, and Korean cultural activities during the day and film viewings in the evenings.

PARTICIPATION INCLUDES

- set of Chinese, Japanese, and Korean literary works
- free lodgings and at least one meal a day
- provision of East Asian resources for classroom use
- certificate of participation

PARTICIPANT'S RESPONSIBILITIES

- $80 non-refundable registration fee upon acceptance of application, travel expenses to and from Bloomington, up to two meals a day
- read all works to be covered at workshop prior to arrival
- participate in online discussions on Google prior to the workshop
- attend all required sessions
- create a lesson plan on a work covered during the workshop (due five weeks after workshop)
- in the event of cancellation, reimburse EASC for the non-recoverable costs, of reading materials, and hotel
- notify EASC if email address changes and read ALL emails for workshop
